Current look of the Add Events page

I want my users to be able to search the list of events by the categories cartooned in the slides below for example, they should be able to search by call for papers, call for abstracts, call for speakers, continent, and event month and year etc. My diagrams give a sense of what I want done but you can use your professional discretion for the final solution

In the "add events" page, permitted roles should be able to choose these categories for their events and choose an expiration date as well. For example, an administrator should be able to select "call for registration" and enter a deadline for this call, so that after this deadline, that event can no longer be pulled using a "call for registration" search
